There are about 1,000 children in Victoria who are blind or vision impaired. Many of these children do not cope well in the mainstream system and need specialist teaching to keep up or catch up with the state curriculum and learn the skills necessary to reach their potential and be best placed for future employment.

The Insight Education Centre for the Blind and Vision Impaired is entering a new era of growth and community engagement. With support from the Premier, Minister Merlino and the Department of Education and Training, the school is preparing for an increased intake of students and needs to increase teaching staff.
